

PLEASE JOIN US FOR THE SECOND ANNUAL Teaching the World Forum

How can we prepare teachers who guide students to investigate the world and act responsibly in today's global society?

Join us for examples of teacher education practices that answer this vital question.

Hear from teacher educators, administrators, teachers and students of multiple disciplines.

WHERE: Rutgers Livingston Student Center
Livingston Hall (Room 101)
84 Joyce Kilmer Avenue
Piscataway, NJ 08854

WHEN: Thursday, April 25, 2013
9:00am - 2:00pm
Lunch included

RSVP: kathleen.myles@gse.rutgers.edu
by April 1, 2013

Our invited speaker, Vivien Stewart, Senior Advisor for Education at the Asia Society and author of A World Class Education: Learning from International Models of Excellence and Education, will share the common elements of successful systems and their implications for teacher educators.

Funding for this event generously provided by the Longview Foundation.

RUTGERS

Graduate School of Education